

Staffing

Lifeline Ambulance employs both qualified Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT's/Paramedics), registered with the Pre Hospital Emergency Care Council, as well as National Ambulance School trained First Responders.

In addition to their EMT training, Lifeline has worked with the National Ambulance Training School to develop suitable periodic refresher courses for CPR and cardiac revalidation including the use of Defibrillators. These training sessions, organised for both EMT's and First Responders, are conducted at the National Ambulance Training School. We have also established a patient handling training course for our staff.
